

STRONG RESISTANCE FAILS TO STOP ALLIED TROOPS

FOCH TROOPS ARE DRIVING BOCHES BACK

FRANCO-AMERICAN TROOPS CONTINUE TO CHASE RETREATING HUNS. GERMAN RETREAT SAID TO BE ORDERLY

ADVANCE THREE MILES

Allies Have Gained Three Miles On Twenty-Mile Front Since Yesterday. Super Cannon Discovered.

London, July 29.—Heavy fighting is still in progress south of Soissons in the neighborhood of Buzancy. So far the French have made no progress there. Villages between Soissons and Bazoches about 14 miles to the east, however are on fire, leading to the belief that the Germans intend a further retreat. Since yesterday the allies have advanced between two and three miles on a twenty mile front.

Abandon Line.
The enemy has definitely abandoned the line of the Ourcq and there is little doubt now he will go back beyond the Vesle to the line 30 miles long between Soissons and Rheims, which is probably well entrenched and has good lines of communication. The German retreat has been quite orderly and deliberate so far as the taking of only four guns has been reported.

The Americans particularly in the Foch Tardenois area are approaching the Germans vigorously.

Hold High Ground.
With the American Army on Alsne-Marne Front.—From Rheims the line runs almost straight southwest to Chilly-en-Vallée. The forest of Ris is now beyond the allies and they are holding Camp Voisy to the north-east of the forest.

In this region the Germans have the higher ground, and have some advantages in the artillery duels.
French and American troops have discovered a second emplacement for a super cannon at Nantilly Notre-dame, according to the Herald. The emplacement was five meters deep and four hundred meters square. The first super-cannon emplacement discovered by the allies was at Grezy, a little more than three miles south of Nantilly Notre-dame.

Strong Resistance.
Reinforced by two crack divisions of Bavarian guards, the Austrians, too, settled in the hardest fighting. They had yet displayed against the American forces, north of the river Ourcq.

Attacks Repulsed.
Although the Germans were hammering, the Americans replied in like, along the river, and fighting shifted back and forth through a series of three miles southeast of the Ourcq. The Germans had been unable to force a recrossing of the Ourcq.

Retreat Continues.
Under the irresistible pressure of the allies, the enemy retreat continued yesterday, according to the Herald correspondent at the front. The average advance of the allies during the day was from three to five miles. It is as yet impossible to determine the limit of the retreat, but it is probable it will stop on the wooded heights along the Vesle river.

Will Expand Expansion of the American army headquarters in London, is in progress. Three new buildings were taken over last week, including a large building for the quartermaster department. Two hospitals were recently opened by the medical department of the army, and will be run at full capacity within a few days.

Continued Chase.
Washington.—The crossing of the Ourcq by the American forces in their continued pursuit of the enemy, north of the Vesle, was reported in general by the American command yesterday. Received today at the war department, capture by the Americans of the town of Herinnes-en-Nesles, a village 10 kilometers beyond the Ourcq was also announced.

Near Amiens.
London, July 29.—Two lines of German trenches on a two mile front at Amiens have been captured by Australian troops, the war office announced today. In carrying out this operation the Australians took 100 prisoners.

Hammering Away.
With the American Army on Alsne-Marne Front, 8:30 a. m., July 29.—The American and Australian troops were hammering vigorously at the stiffening German rear guards early today with some prospect that before night, the advancing line would be close to the river Aisne which is now a kilometer away.

The German base at Fere en Tardenois has been occupied.

Continued Chase.
London, July 29.—The German retreat is continuing along the whole line the allies closely in pursuit, according to news from the fighting area. In the Soissons-Rheims salient, the Germans were driven to the north.

The Germans have succeeded in checking to a certain extent, but not stopping the French on the north bank of the Ourcq and to the east have secured the whole road between Rheims and Dorman. The Germans are stubbornly resisting and are burning villages.

New Line.
London, July 29.—The Germans started a new battle this morning by launching a heavy attack against the French position on Hill 181, near Mont Sans-Pain. When the latest dispatches were filed the fighting was proceeding without much advantage to either side.

Western Union Enters Plea of Not Guilty for Violation of Statute

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, July 29.—The Western Union Telegraph company pleaded guilty today to indictments charging violation of the criminal statute which forbids the establishment of private express service, and the transfer of telegrams in violation of the government. The company was given one week in which to demure or otherwise alter today's plea.

The French won ground on the important front between Soissons and the Ourcq on the German right flank today, launching a new attack, the morning near Grezy. They advanced a half mile. The high ground here is in French hands. Fighting was still proceeding at latest reports received in London late this afternoon.

Best of Huns.

London, July 29.—The Americans met Germany's finest regiment in battle south of Serpy last night where the enemy threw in the whole fourth division of Prussian Guards in a desperate counter attack. Advises reaching London this afternoon show the Americans stood like a stone wall, and the Germans to a complete stop and inflicted the heaviest losses upon them.

The dispatches praise the work of the Americans highly, but give no details beyond mentioning the heavy losses which the Prussians suffered particularly from the American machine gunners.

INVASION OVER.—North of the Marne the tide of German invasion is ebbing fast. The fact that a general retreat in this region is now unquestioned. The only question of moment to be cleared up is the location of the position, at which the enemy will turn at bay. Since the German high command has succeeded in extricating its forces from the trap sprung by General Foch. The resistance of the Germans for a week after the signing of the armistice, however, probably gave them time to withdraw their heavier bodies of men and a large proportion of their guns from the salient. The advance of the allies east of Chilly to Chateau must soon compel the enemy to evacuate the line from the Ourcq river toward Soissons for a considerable distance.

NEAR RHEIMS.—Near Rheims, however, the Germans seem to hold positions that will form a pivot for their retreat toward the Vesle river. In this region the hardest fighting has been close to the Ardre river which forms a protection to the right flank of the enemy. As the situation now stands the Germans must be able to hold the line, and a severe defeat north of the Marne, but it is not a Sedan.

While the Germans have been busy setting their rear back, out of the battle between Soissons and Rheims, their forces further north have been attacked by the British once more. Australian troops attacked the German line of the Sol river, and took two lines of German trenches over a two mile front. The Australians also captured a hundred prisoners. The operation is just to the north of Hamel and Villers-Bretonneux, where the Australians and Americans early in June won a decisive victory over the enemy. Further south is the line over which the French have more recently advanced to dominating positions along the Aisne.

ON THEY GO.—More than half the pocket between Marne and Vesle river has been cleared of Germans, and the allies are driving the enemy still farther back. The pressure of the French and Americans on the south, and the French British on the east, and the German retreat toward the west, and eastern side south of Soissons and southwest of Rheims respectively has been withstood and the mouth of the pocket is still large enough to enable the greater part of the enemy forces to reach the Vesle.

RAILROAD BASE CAPTURED.
Tere on Tardenois, the great German base northeast of Chateau was captured by the Allies. The base is within the grasp of the advancing allies. Almost all the Dorman Rheims road again is in allied hands, and the Germans apparently are being driven back to the Vesle. It is not to the Aisne. No great capture of prisoners has been reported. The Germans are using artillery and machine guns against the allies, as the French and Americans who have advanced most rapidly press northward. The German resistance has become stiffer. The enemy is using his artillery on heights north of Soissons and Rheims, and is subjecting the sides of the pocket to an enfilading bombardment of great violence.

STRAIGHTEN LINE.—From west to east the allied line now runs from Chilly to Chateau along the northern bank of the Ourcq to Fere, thence through Serpy and Goussancourt to Chilly and north of Bligny. The Germans have maintained their position despite the steady hammering of the allies.

Serpy, held by the Americans, reported an advance of 18 miles from Chateau Thierry in ten days. The forward movement Sunday was as great as five miles at some points, but everywhere less than two miles along the front from Chilly to Bligny.

While the enemy loss in men may not be great the allies probably will capture many guns and machine guns in addition to supplies and munitions which the Germans have been unable to destroy or move away.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 29.—In an address before the Boy View Civic League, Sunday afternoon, Governor Emanuel E. Philipp emphasized the fact that no peace should be declared until a moral victory for the country. The Governor also said that he believed that one great benefit which would result to the United States from the war, would be the lessening of individual selfishness and that the principle would be plainly established in this country that every individual has a duty to perform to his fellow man and that they would receive that living by the common consent of the people.

The Governor paid considerable attention in his address to conditions which will exist after the war, and he declared that while conditions were different at this time than they were at the time of the Civil War when there was plenty of land upon which the soldiers could settle on their return, that he believed that the problem of furnishing the displaced army with employment, and that he believed that the armies would be absorbed into the life of the country. The Governor pointed out the fact that Europe would need our supplies of all kinds, and that the country for the rehabilitation of the country and that also railway extension, public buildings, and the rebuilding of all character would be required. He declared that the labor for the returned army. In part, the Governor said.

is to provide the ways and means to carry on the war and for that purpose, our people must unite. The main interest of the war has been won. Every man, it matters not how humble his situation in life, is called upon to contribute his share to the country and that also railway extension, public buildings, and the rebuilding of all character would be required. He declared that the labor for the returned army. In part, the Governor said.

TO PROBE CAUSE OF STEAMER DISASTER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, July 29.—Federal investigation was begun today into the sinking of the Mary M., which imperiled the lives of seventy passengers and crew when it crashed into a government breakwater just off the Chicago municipal pier last night.

It is believed that all were saved, although the boat sank in ten minutes after the collision. Under the lights on the deck of the little gasoline launch, which pierces the city's pier and Lincoln park, and the majority of those on board were able to leap to its safety, whence they were rescued by life saving crews and passing boats.

BIG VESSEL TAKEN THROUGH CANAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, July 29.—Transporting a steamship 458 feet long, 32 feet wide and with a depth of 25 feet through a canal that is only 44 feet wide, and an extreme length of 205 feet, with the cutting of the ship in only one place, is a problem that the United States shipping board believes it has worked out in order to bring from the great lakes for war service the steamship Charles R. Van Hise.

The Van Hise is one of 190 lake vessels which the United States took over from the Germans when they entered the war. Forty-eight of these were brought out before the closing in of the ice last winter, and 35 more subsequent to the opening of navigation last spring. Many were too long for the Welland Canal, and the problem of transportation was easily solved by bulkheading up the open ends and rejoining at Montreal and Quebec for the Atlantic voyage to American ship yards.

With the exception of the Van Hise those now coming out which are too long for the canal locks are being handled the same way as the Van Hise. The problem of a breadth of beam six feet greater than the width of the canal.

THE NUT-CRACKER.

Of course no one really expects the Crown Prince to be with his army within the ever-narrowing limits of the nut-cracker that the German Americans are closing on in part of the German army of invasion, but if they once succeed in preventing a retreat of this army and can capture them, even after a severe battle, it will be a wonderful blow for humanity.

Could the jaws of that nut-cracker ever close and catch the rotten nut of the "finches" army firmly between its teeth it would be a victory well worth securing. However, should the victim escape they will have left behind them a trail of dead, wounded and prisoners that will touch them a lesson and the whole German nation.

Meanwhile Germany is pushing its strongest forces into the threatened districts, throwing their shock troops into the fray regardless of consequences, and as a result we may expect tales of bitter fighting before the final blow of this retreat is written. Slowly the jaws of the nut-cracker are tightening and slowly but surely the advancing allies are closing in, but will they be in time?

THE WAR GARDENS.

Nowhere in the United States, it is safe to say, are the children's war gardens given more attention and support than right here in Janesville. It is a most enjoyable trip for those who go with Prof. West with their autos on his final tour of inspection. The wonderful work of this kindly teacher of agriculture among the children of the graded schools and the high school, the personal interest he displays in the work, the intelligent instruction he gives, the cheerful and helpful workers are numerous. In Prof. West, Rock county and Janesville have a wonderful teacher, and one whose ability and kindly spirit will leave its impression on all who come in contact with him in his work of love of nature and creating food and teaching it to the young citizens and citizens. Through his efforts the Janesville war gardens will be a most successful something, and too much credit can not be given the young workers who have followed his instructions and to the instructor who has created this spirit that will go through life with the boys and girls of our community.

A TRIFLE HASTY.

Too often state judgments are passed on questions of general importance by a few who look at but one side of the question, and later when the general consensus of opinion is discovered and they find they have been mistaken they readily admit their error in former judgment and now to the will of public opinion. It takes a wise man to admit a mistake others never do, and in civic and state and national affairs men may differ, but the will of the great majority always rules, and the snap judgments of a few to the ground as worthless in the long run, although they may do much material damage for the time being.

JANESVILLE'S FAIR.

Janesville is to have the only fair in Rock county this season. It is proposed to be a success, and if the hard work of the directors count for anything it will be all that the advance agents report: "Bigger, better, grander and more interesting than ever." Here horse racing, larger exhibits of livestock and pure-bred oxen and horses. With the dairy products raised for the fair produce given recognition and the women's work exhibited. Taking it all in all, if the weather is good it will mean a great thing for Janesville, and the children of Rock county can well afford to unite in supporting.

SOMETHING DOING.

The new chamber of commerce has taken a firm hold upon the city of Janesville and its interests. There is something doing every minute of the day at its offices, and Secretary Green, who was formerly introduced to the Janesville public Friday evening, is one of those live wires that keep things humming even on a dead circuit. The work already accomplished would surprise the average citizen, and the results, when made public, will astonish even some of the optimists. The chamber of commerce has filled a long-needed want and is well worth the effort expended in its creation.

It is to be hoped the council will stand firm on their detention hospital proposition tonight. The change is essential to the city as a whole and really works no hardships on any individual. The movement of the structure from its present location makes it not more dangerous than it always has been and the kernel of the whole question apparently is that the council may order improvements to the approaches to the building for which adjacent property-owners will have to pay their share.

What is needed is a secretary to the mayor. Under the aldermanic form of government no one can expect the mayor to be at his office at all hours of the day. Why not provide a secretary for the mayor to care for the ever-increasing correspondence and notify the mayor of matters of importance which need his immediate attention. Janesville should be run in a businesslike manner even though it costs a bit more than anticipated.

There should be extra traffic policemen on duty Saturday nights to handle the increased vehicle traffic and congested condition of the streets. It is all right to issue orders but the next thing is to be on the job to enforce them. The new demand evidently becomes necessary owing to the fact Janesville is "wet," and nothing will put it dry quicker than street disorders now we are under government inspection.

The States Council of Defense has taken the bull by the horns in Illinois and issued a mandate to the liquor dealers regarding the sale of bottled goods. It is barely possible this may follow in other states for the betterment of all concerned.

This week the Tenth Infantry of the Wisconsin State Guard is in camp at Camp Douglas reservation and it is safe to say they will not prove any better trained and equipped than the Eighth, to which the Rock county companies belong.

Fishermen tell tales of wonderful catches, but thus far the increase in the food supply in this direction has not been noted materially.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MOULTON

The new work-or-fight order has caused some changes in the New York life. For the first time in its history, there are girl mail clerks at the Lamb's club. Other girls have been placed in charge of the telephone switchboard in place of men. When women are permitted to handle the mail and listen to the telephone calls of actors, no one can doubt that grim war has us in its grasp.

King George has been learning to eat buckwheat cakes, and anybody who is willing to eat buckwheat cakes in July must be an almighty good friend to America.

Just been looking over the garden and that our sweet corn is no smaller than it was three weeks ago. In our garden experience, this seems almost like progress.

In a film the other day—a western film—one man shot another man and then rushed to the other man's wife and said (subtitled): "I have just killed your husband. Can you forgive me?" "I am so sorry," the lady puckered up her mouth, pulled down the corners of her eyes, and then a tear about the size of a walnut rolled down her nose. Then she said: "Yes, oh, yes, it was fate." Then she collapsed into the murderer's arms. The husband must have been some old boy around the house.

The Germans are forced to wear paper underclothing and eat mullen leaf soup.

Well, this is their war. As Lord Northcliffe hurried through the lobby of a New York hotel some time ago, a correspondent said to him: "A soldier could land him. The last time I wrote him for an interview, he wrote back: 'I am sorry, but I must ask you to excuse me. I anybody asks me for an interview, I will like the little boy at the school, treat him, when the school's wife came round to him with the straw-berry jam, said: 'No, thank you, I am busy. I work at the place where they makes it.'"

A great many brutal murders are reported from Russia. It must be that Germany has already intervened. The fact that "over there" they call a Ford a "commuter" is interesting. A man who with the senatorial carriage in Michigan. Nobody knows whether a "commuter" is a knock or a goot.

Another sign of thoroughness is that "Michel," the term the German proudly applies to himself, means "boob."

It is customary to remember kings by some pet name such as Richard the Lion Hearted. Just now we are endeavoring to bring a little more honor to Wilhelm. Up to date the following suggestions have been received:

William the Booby.
William the Murderer.
Bill the Boob.

As for the Crown Prince, there is no honor name for him—Freddie the Fatuous.

THE LODGE OF DEATH.

"Hail!" said the sentry at the Lodge of Death.
"Who stands without and seeks admittance here?"
"A pilgrim soldier from the Land of Breath."

The outer guard replied in accents clear.
"Is he of age and properly prepared?"
"He stands erect. To death his breast is bared."

"What does he seek from us that we may deny?"
"And is it of his own free will he comes?"
"What, with his life, does he expect to buy?"
"And has he ever marched to rolling drums?"
"He answers that his life he waits to give
That other men in happiness may live."

And he has marched for many dreary miles
Sustained alone by love of truth and right.
Hungry and footsore still he bravely smiles.
Admit him to our company this night.
I vouch for him. He will deserve our trust.

WHO'S WHO in the Day's News

LIEUT. COM. THURMAN HANDY NEWBERRY.
Truman Handy Newberry is one of "Roosevelt's fids."
Busy at a desk on the fourth floor of a big building at 230 Broadway New York, he has answered his country's call. He is working from ten to fifteen hours a day, up to Sunday the war.

But he is not so well known now as he was when he was secretary of the navy.
Back in the days when no such things as German submarines had been heard of, Theodore Roosevelt, then assistant secretary of the navy, was on an inspection trip of the navy yards of the Great Lakes.

One morning the colonel stood near the rail of the training ship Yantic and looked at a trim steam yacht slipping over the waters a mile away.
"A beauty," he exclaimed.
The commander did not recognize the yacht. The colonel turned to a seaman who was scrubbing the decks.

"Do you know what ship that is?" the colonel asked.
"Yes, she's the Dawn of Detroit," was the reply.
"How do you know that?"
"I own her," quietly replied the seaman, as he went on with his work.

A few years later Roosevelt, then president, named that seaman, Truman Handy Newberry, secretary of the navy. Newberry then believed in a naval reserve force. He still holds to his belief.

The women are sisters, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hall.

Consolidate Breweries
Wausau.—Stockholders of the Matthe Brewing company and the George Ruder Brewing company are to confer, August 5, to decide on consolidation or selling out to a new corporation. Recent government and other regulations prompt the move.

Painters' Convention
Green Bay.—Letters have been sent out to all painters and decorators in Wisconsin, inviting them to the Master Painters and Decorators' convention to be held here for three days, beginning Wednesday July 31. Whether or not the painters and decorators are members of the association, they are invited to "invest their time at 500 per cent interest." The convention will be largely of an educational nature.

The letters urge that the state of Wisconsin take an active part in the co-operative spirit which is prevailing the entire country and that the men of the professions named meet here to discuss and solve the problems that confront them.
Several "stunts" will be put on for the entertainment of the visitors. The election of officers and the choosing of the next convention city will be taken up during their business sessions.

Notice to Subscribers Who Receive Paper by Carrier in Edgerton.

WEST VIRGINIA SOLDIERS MAY BE ABLE TO VOTE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Charleston, W. Va., July 29.—Whether West Virginia soldiers who are in the foreign service of their country will be allowed to cast votes in the elections this fall is an unsettled question, and a special session of the legislature is being agitated so to amend the election laws that no doubt may be cast upon the franchise of a soldier.

The present law, enacted by the legislature in a special session in 1917, was designed to afford men in service an opportunity to vote, but now it is pointed out that many of its provisions are unnecessary and some are impossible. State political leaders are being urged by constituents to support any move for a special session to clarify the election laws, and Gov. Cawwell has been asked to assemble the legislature.

The present law provides that a soldier must apply in writing to the registrar of his precinct not less than thirty days prior to the election, the application to be made by registered mail. As soon as the registrar receives a copy of the official ballot, he must send a ballot, with voting envelope and return envelope directed to the registrar, a printed slip of instructions as to the manner of voting, and a certificate of registration with a coupon attached of a form specified in the act. These must be sent in care of the soldier's commanding officer.

The soldier must open this envelope in the presence of his commanding officer, must take out a certificate and sign it in the presence of the officer, and the commanding officer must also take out and sign a certificate of the form indicated in the act. The sealed ballot, the certificate of the voter and the certificate of the officer are forwarded by registered mail to the registrar.

FULTON KNOCKED OUT BY JACK DEMPSEY

Just twenty-three seconds after the initial gong had rung, for the first round of their fight, Fred Fulton laid himself out for the champion, Jack Dempsey. It was one of the shortest fights on record and by his quick victory, Dempsey has established for himself the only real contender for the crown now worn by Jess Willard. The fight was so short that many of the fans who had traveled a long distance to witness the encounter did not have an opportunity to see a single blow struck. Fulton was knocked out and after several seconds after he had fallen before he was revived. Harry Greb of the United States navy won a clean-cut victory over Sergeant McGovern of Camp Grant in the ring at Fort Sheridan Saturday afternoon. The fight went the full ten rounds despite the many attempts of the fighters to score a knockout. McGovern was outfought at every stage of the game by his younger opponent and it was due to the ring generalship of McGovern that he was able to state off a knockout blow. Greb displayed beyond all doubt that he is the logical contender to the middleweight honor. The clash for championship of the fighting forces of the United States, Mike O'Dowd, the only other contender is "over there" and a bout between Greb and Mike cannot take place until after the war.

DE PALMA CARRIES OFF SWEEPSTAKES HONORS

Chicago, July 29.—Ralph De Palma won the international motor sweepstakes of the Chicago motorway yesterday in what probably was the swiftest and most exciting contest of the kind ever seen on an American track. De Palma's big cream-colored Packard, and across the finish line in first position in less than the four minutes, and two of them, the ten and twenty mile races set new world records for the distances covered. The car had been tuned up to a magnificent pitch, and the famous De Palma line was definitely and triumphantly relegated to the limbo of lost affairs. Victor by Fifth of a Second. It was no easy victory either. In each race the drivers were closely bunched every foot of the way, and in most cases crossed the finish line almost neck and neck. Usually there has been a fraction of a second that spells the difference between first and second man. Louis Chevrolet took second honors, finishing second in three of the contests and fourth in the other. Dario Resta and third in the final races. Ralph Mulford fourth, and Ira Vail fifth.

TALES OF CARDINAL STRIFE ARE FICTION

New York, July 29.—The path of Jack Hendricks, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, never rose since he was named captain of that club, is being made harder by a flock of stories purporting to originate "in the story" and depicting that his club is filled with strife. One of these yarns is to the effect that Rogers Hornsby recently complained of an injury to his back when he was out of condition. At that time, the shortstop was under the care of a physician who ordered him to remain out of the game for some time. When he recovered, he was back in the game with his full strength. Hendricks told the writer shortly after the last baseball season that he was on excellent terms with every man on his baseball club, including "Popper" Hornsby.

CAN'T KEEP TY DOWN IF HE CAN SEE 'EM

[BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS] New York, July 29.—As long as Ty Cobb can see the benders coming over the plate he is going to be up there giving everybody in the American league a battle for the leadership in batting. For a time this season Ty was forced to trail along with a poor batting average. He did not start hitting until the season was more than two and a half months old, and recently became known that eye trouble was the cause. Cobb contracted a severe cold early in the season—one of those colds that won't let go—and it finally affected both his eyes. He became greatly worried over his trouble, and his worrying did not help him to recover as quickly as he might have done. But when he finally got rid of the cold his vision cleared up, and he started after the leaders—Sisler, Baker and others—laughingly declaring that he would give up all one more battle for the batting kingship. Cobb, like Wagner, Lajoie, Cravath and others will be a danger to the backswing path as an active player. He is the most natural hitter who has ever worn a big league uniform. He has proven conclusively by leading the heavy-hitting American leaguers for ten years.

The "work or light" order is not expected to interfere with the running of the international sweepstakes at Speedways Park. Every driver who will compete and every man connected with the management is well over draft age. The successful driver of the modern, high speed machine with its airplane type motor must possess exceptional judgment and self-control that comes only with mature years. The Louis Chevrolet, United States; Ralph Mulford, France; Arthur Dury, Belgium; Dario Resta, England; Ralph De Palma, Italy. "Chevrolet is the 'daddy' of them all, having just passed his fifty-third birthday. The daring Frenchman has been manipulating the racing wheel for more than twenty years, and is still flashing along with the best of them. Dury, who though a native of Belgium, has just finished three and a half years of fighting with the French army. He is 40 years old. He too has been driving for more than twenty years, and in 1913 established the world's speed record of 147 miles an hour on the kilometer course at Ostend, France. De Palma is close to the 40 year mark, while Resta and Mulford, the kids among the veterans of today, are each 35 years old.

Boh Larmore, the Cardinals' utility infielder, who is the first young man on record ever to play with a major league club while still a high school student, is about to enlist in the navy. Larmore first attained prominence as an athlete at the central high school in St. Louis. This spring he had given trial with the Cardinals and, making good, signed a contract with that club. He continued to pursue his duties in the high school, however, and under the terms of the daily sessions, would make his way to the ball park and don a uniform. A few weeks ago he was formed out to the Houston club, but the organization suspended operations because of the war, he was recalled by Jack Hendricks.

Jim Rice has not decided as yet whether he will resume crew coaching next year. The former Columbia University instructor has a number of generous offers from the athletic authorities at some of our largest schools of learning in the east. It is a question of patriotism with Rice. Like many of his brother instructors, he feels that unless an open declaration is soon forthcoming from the government officials at Washington supporting all branches of athletic activities then his work of coaching will be of little consequence. If he does not sign up as a crew coach he is still offering his services to Uncle Sam as an athletic instructor.

Boston college is the latest school of learning to announce a full schedule of intercollegiate games for the coming season. The Hub city collegians made quite a record for themselves during the past two years under the guidance of Charles Brickley, former Harvard star. Brickley will be selected for Brickley's place for the coming fall, as the former Cambridge halfback is now serving as a lieutenant with Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

Amherst college is to be represented on the gridiron next fall. The New England faculty is of the opinion that a great service can be rendered to the country by developing physical fitness to take the places of those now fighting in the trenches. No college has contributed a larger number of representatives to the fighting forces than the famous New England seat of learning. Every class of the last twenty years has a representative with the colors.
